EVOLUTION.

Monday night Professor Joseph LeConte lectured before the Young Men's Christian Association of San Francisco on "The Influence of Darwinism on Philosophy and Religion." The lecturer stated that in 1802, when the matter of Darwinism was first taken up, the public were not sufficiently enlightened upon the subject to thoroughly understand it. The succession of animals is like unto the construction of a building. The lecturer stated that everything in science that has been discovered in the last hundred years tends to point toward Darwinism. The lecturer stated that man has reached his perfect state by gradual transformation and evolution. "Take the horse," said the lecturer; "he has now three toes in his hoof. Go back and you will find that he had five toes, thus showing that he sprang from a five-toed ancestor. There will be a greater change in man, which is imminent, that will bring out his religious nature."

The Cologne Gazette, referring to the hostile articles of the French press, in regard to the German Crown Prince's visit to Spain, especially alludes to an article in the Paris Nationale, which he says is plainly intended to incite the Spanish Republicans to commit revolution. In answer to Spain's reception of the German Crown Prince, the correspondent adds:—Money has been sent Barcelona from France for this object.

Words Spoken at a London Banquet.

LONDON, November 15.
At a banquet given last evening to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the President of the Board of Trade urged the necessity of measures to prevent the great annual loss of life and property in the merchant marine service. Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada, paid a high tribute to the Marquis de Lorne for the manner in which he had performed his duties as Governor General of Canada. De Lesseps said there ought to be no difficulty in arriving at a fair settlement of the Suez canal question.

Destitute Laborers.

MONTREAL, November 15.

Black Bart Identified.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 15.
A Stockton dispatch states that C. E. Colton, who was arrested here Monday night by Detective Hume of Wells, Fargo & Co., has been identified by Martin, the old hunter, as the veritable "Black Bart." He has been lodged in the San Andreas jail.

Will Resume.

A Call New York special says: At a meeting of the creditors of Hyams Bros., wholesale clothiers of New York and San Francisco, William Hyams, capitalist of the firm, informed the creditors that all of the claims would be paid in full at maturity. The property will be reassigned to the firm.

Opposition by Claus Spreckles.
It is stated that Claus Spreckles has ordered two new steamers in the East. These two, with one of the two now running between here and Honolulu, will be placed on the China trade in opposition to the Pacific mail steamers.

Rise in Whalebone and Oil.
Owing to a bad season in the Arctic, whalebone has gone up from two to four dollars a pound. Oil has also taken an upward turn.

A Prominent Politician's Condition.
Private dispatches this morning from San Felipe says A. J. Donnelly has now but little hope of his recovery. He is dying of consumption. Donnelly has been a prominent Democratic politician. He was strongly opposed to the candidacy of George Hearst for Governor, and recently, again brought his name prominently before the public as a juror in the case against John S. Gray. It was stated that he intended supporting Mr. De Lacey, late of the San Jose Times, in the establishment of a new daily paper in this city.

Black Bart Weakens.
This morning the following dispatch was received by Wells, Fargo & Co.

COPPERPOLIS, November 15.
Black Bart throws up the sponge. The treasure has all been recovered. The primary cause of the thief's weakening, was his identification by Martin, the hunter, who saw him near the scene of the robbery. It is supposed here that the reported gold and gold dust was cached by Bart near the place of the robbery and that he was induced, by promises of a light sentence, to reveal its whereabouts. The amount of his plunder was $4,794.25, of which $4,200 has been recovered. He will probably be tried in Calaveras county for his last offense.

A Brute's Confession.

PORTLAND, November 15.
Late last night young Finlayson made a full confession relative to the murder of his grandmother. He said that shortly after his grandfather went away his grandmother told him "he had better go out to plough. He did not feel well and did not wish to go and some words ensued, when she hit him with a small stick of stove wood she had in her hand. The blow did not hurt him much, but angered him and as she stooped to put the stick in the stove he struck her on the back of the head with an axe. She was dazed by the blow, but staggered into her bedroom. He followed her and took a knife lying on the table, and stabbed her a number of times. When he had done she told him to say goodbye for her to all her friends. She then asked for a drink of water which he brought her and after drinking some she ceased to breathe. He then covered her with the bedclothes, and after taking a few dollars in money he left.

Another Crime for the Apaches to Shoulder.

TOMBSTONE, November 15.
A party who arrived from Sonora yesterday states that he was engaged in cutting hay, about half a mile from that place, where the custom-house guards were killed last week, and was present when the surviving member of the party of six reached Bacmachil with the news. His first impression was that the killing was the work of smugglers, but upon visiting the scene and finding that all the animals belonging to the murdered men had been taken, the conclusion was arrived at that it was the work of Indians; as smugglers would not have taken the animals, for fear that the possession of them would lead to detection.

Trouble With Indians.

PORTLAND, Or., November 15.
Mail advices from Canyon City, Grant county, says a few days ago an Indian, hanging up a deer, was shot in the back and instantly killed. His friends suspected the two sons of E. C. Officer had committed the deed, and they have surrounded Mr. Officer and his boys in a cavern near Big Basin. The Indians number 33, and are making hostile demonstrations. Officer has appealed to Canyon City for aid and Sheriff Cressap started to the scene of the gathering to try and allay the excitement.

Mexico's Debt.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 15.
Interviews with high officials develop the following facts regarding the English debt: Mexico acknowledges an indebtedness, principal and interest, of £18,000,000. Last April a private agent of Mexico, without full authority, made an agreement with the bondholders, by which Mexico was to replace her outstanding bonds with a new issue for £20,000,000, at three per cent. interest. The additional £2,000,000 was for the purpose of paying the first year's interest and reimbursing the expenses of the bondholders. Subsequently the President was authorized to settle the debt on a given basis, but when the text of the agreement arrived from London, the President refused to agree to the additional £2,000,000. Negotiations for a new agreement were then begun, but failed two weeks ago. The President has instructed Carlos Rivas, the Mexican agent at London, to offer £18,000,000 in bonds, instead of £20,000,000. Rivas was instructed last week to suspend negotiations. The Government is anxious to settle, but considers the demand of the bondholders exorbitant.

—The license of William Draper, brother of "Shang" Draper, in whose saloon on Sixth Avenue, New York, the burglars Walsh and Irving recently shot each other dead, has been revoked.

Lincoln's Remains.

CHICAGO, November 15.
A story is published here this morning to the effect that the body of Abraham Lincoln had been secretly removed from the sarcophagus at Springfield, to prevent the possibility of any further attempt by grave robbers. The story runs to the effect that the removal was made within a few days after the attempted desecration of the grave a few days ago, that the body was placed in a lead lined, air tight, cedar casket and placed in another position, away from the monument, and that the location is known only to a few immediate friends.

An Important Suit.

NEW YORK, November 15.
The suit of Durant Depo against Fred K. Billings and Henry Villard of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and others, restraining the company from issuing $20,000,000 in bonds, and the execution and further mortgage or lien of its property, begun in the Supreme Court, has been transferred to the United States Circuit Court, and a temporary injunction has been obtained restraining the execution of these acts.

OMAHA, November 15.

Big Fire at Oakbrook.

ONKOSH, Wis., November 15.

Rolling-Mill Closed.

MILWAUKEE, November 15.
The Bay View Fish-Plate and Rolling-Mill closed yesterday, throwing several hundred men out of employment. The shutting down is owing to a lack of orders, the season for rolling being about over.

The Window-Glass Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., November 15.
The strike of the window-glass workers is almost two months old, and from the outward appearance a settlement is as far off as when the strike was inaugurated. Talk of dissensions among the strikers is emphatically denied by the officials, who assert that the inner workings of the association are entirely harmonious, and that financially, they are in a better condition than the first day, as the glass-workers of the east have responded liberally to their calls for aid. The stock of glass in warehouses is getting very low, and manufacturers, in order to fill orders, are importing French glass, rather than submit to the demands of the strikers.

San Francisco Likely to be Entered.

CHICAGO, November 15.
The backers of John L. Sullivan will propose to Paddy Ryan to have the four-rounds glove contest, which has been arranged to occur in Boston, take place in San Francisco instead.

Five bars of Comstock bullion went below this morning by Wells-Fargo.

A small army of tramps are between here and Wadsworth traveling west.

It is now unlawful to kill deer. Sportsmen will do well to bear this fact in mind.

Sheep paper all colors at Nasby's, 27 Commercial Row. Thermometer at 7, 9, 11, 1, 3—25, 33, 34, 51, 54.

There will be a dance at Huffaker's to-morrow night. Hastings and Fredricks furnish the music. Several are going from Reno.

Dinner will be served at the Baptist church this evening from 5 o'clock to 7:30. Chicken and all the delicacies will be served for 25 cents.

One of the Good brothers was in town yesterday to buy hay for winter feeding. Not finding hay that suited him, he returned home and will likely feed his cattle in Honey Lake valley.

HORSE STEALING.

A "Detective" Making a Deal of Trouble on the Road.

Night before last a fellow made a raid on the stage horses at the Eight-mile House, on the Pyramid road. The hostler heard a horse running about, and got up to see what the matter was, when he found one of the stage horses bucking about with a pair of blankets tied to the saddle, and a lot of ginger crackers in a sack dangling by his side. He also saw a man riding another horse down the road. He mounted the loose horse and took after the thief, when the latter, finding himself pursued, dismounted and took to the brush. The hostler caught the other horse and returned the two to the stable. The same fellow came to town yesterday and hired a horse at Hymers' stable to go to Francisco's place, paying the bill in advance. He claimed to be a detective searching for a man who committed a murder at Canyon City, Oregon. He rode to Pyramid yesterday, and put up at John Hymers' place. During the night he got up, stole a part of a sack of barley, and another stage horse, and made off with the two—the one hired from Hymers here and the stage company's horse. Sheriff Emmitt left to-day in pursuit of the thief.

Truckee Troubles.

Truckee has had a little unpleasantness with a gang of tramps. Two of the gang had been arrested and locked up in the jail charged with petty larceny; they were liberated by their pals and were subsequently re-arrested after they had thumped a constable over the head with a sand bag and shot at him a time or two. The Republican says the town has more tramps, opium fiends, bums and blarney men than all the other towns in Nevada county combined.

HACKMETACK, a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by Osburn and Shoemaker.

Paying Off.

Paymaster Major Cox and clerk, arrived from Bidwell last evening, en route to Forts Hallock and McDermitt, on a paying off trip. Major Cox is another friend of Reno. He says this place is the best point on the line of the railroad for a military post, and is strongly in favor of the establishment of a ten company post here.

NO RECESS.

What a Well-Known Educator has to Say About It.

Editor Gazette:—Last Saturday's issue of the GAZETTE contained an item concerning the no recess plan, which exactly coincides with my ideas on the subject, and I, therefore, write to you expressive of my hearty approval pertaining thereto. Many times while in school pondering over some method by which the insubordination of disobedient scholars could be restrained, I have thought that if they were deprived of recesses, it would be a much easier task to govern them; and hence the discipline of the school would be greatly improved. Finally I put it to a test, and find that it works admirably. Among some of the advantages which are commendable, in favor of no recess, are: (1.) No interruption in the course of the day's study, thereby getting the full sense and benefit of what they are studying. (2.) Not being absorbed in their games, over which they sometimes become very much excited, the pupils are more attentive to their studies. (3.) The teacher can have better control over them, as they are constantly under his vigilant care. (4.) The scholars not getting over-heated and excited at their games, are not liable to catch cold, which fact is often the case, resulting in diphtheria or some kindred disease, which oftentimes ends in death. (5.) Having no recess, the tendency for using profane and vulgar language will be diminished considerably; for the excitement of their games often leads to its use. (6.) No chance to steal away to smoke cigarettes; no quarreling nor fighting as is always the case. (7.) Finally, as a result, they will learn more in the course of a term. In fact the general status of the school will become better. Now, the reverse is mostly the case. Every school contains some vicious scholars who are unceasing in their efforts to contaminate others with their corrupting influences. When the opportunities for doing evil are less frequent, the temptation being less, the scholars do not become accustomed to use vulgar and profane language. Their minds will become more elevated, and a pure sense of delicate refinement will permeate their thoughts. Contact with the wicked, often vitiates the mind and blunts the sensibilities. If the time given to recess every day, were devoted to a short lecture on good morals and manners, or if the time were occupied in calisthenic exercises, in my opinion, it would have a decided salutary effect upon the character of the school, and hence the morale of the rising generation would be benefited. The change would be noticeable in the course of a term. A trial is sufficient to convince anyone of its superiority over the present antiquated system, which dates back to our forefathers. It may appear strange to some, that the custom be abolished now, after it has stood so long; but education like everything else in this age of progression, is constantly advancing upward and onward; and when we, as teachers, see or hear of a new method of improving our schools, I think we would be dilligent of our duty did we not give it a trial. If farmers were to follow in the foot-prints of their forefathers, they would cut their hay and grain with the old-fashioned sickle or a scythe, and they would thresh their grain with the man-killing flail.

I would like to hear from some of our prominent educators on the subject, for I think it is one of vital importance to our schools, and which greatly interests the teacher and patrons. Respectfully yours, M. D. BOWEN. Franktown, Nov. 12, 1883.

Reno's Local Experts.

A large lump of Liverpool salt at Martin & Augustine's yesterday attracted much attention. Julien thought it was very rich, and said 100 tons would be all he would ask for; he thought gold predominated. Dean said it was good-looking rock. Bill Anderson thought the Cottonwood miners had been amply repaid for their years of toil, since a ledge containing such rich quartz had been found. All the local miners(?) looked at the specimen, and were all liberal with their opinions, until someone, in trying to find the "fine gold," tasted the sample, and pronounced it salt.

The Knights Excursion.

Several lodges of K. of P., in California, have organized the "California Club" to go to New Orleans in April next. The Club has sent out a circular containing information interesting to anyone who may contemplate going on the excursion. They calculate the expenses of the trip from San Francisco and return as follows: Fare to New Orleans and return, $100; sleeping berth, $15; meals at stations, $25; seven days in New Orleans, $25; total, $160. The stay in New Orleans will likely cost $3.50 per day.

The Holmes-Belle Case.

Yesterday was devoted to the taking of testimony of witnesses on the history of the location of those famous mines at Candelaria. Maps and charts of great size, showing various details were exhibited in the court room for the illustrating of the testimony as delivered by the witnesses. Mr. Garlides, the surveyor, was on the stand yesterday afternoon. Mr. Holmes has concluded his testimony.

ABOUT TOWN.

A Few Jots Interesting to the Public.

A medical expert gives it as his opinion that a person who travels by rail should "take all sorts of positions." Editing a political party organ will admirably fit a man for this.

For the best Chicago lard, hams and bacon, call on J. K. Everett, at the corner of Second and Sierra streets.

Cook—"Madame why are the eggs so small lately?" "Oh, that's the fault of the farmers wives; they take the eggs from the nests before they have time to grow to the ordinary size."

Knowles & E. Inbridge have reason to be proud of the business which they have built up in this community in so short a time; their present trade shows what square dealing will do.

According to (taste) Detective—"Yes, sir; I'll look up his character. By the way, do you wish to ascertain that he's a nice or a bad person? I always like to please my customers."

The wholesale and retail liquor house of Chelovich & Co. has established a trade in this community that is worth a small fortune.

A contrast to wishes: "I wish this organ had more stops to it," said Birdie McBride enthusiastically. "And I," murmured Guade Smith, in a stage aside; "I sincerely wish that it had one, one eternal stop, a kind of a short stop, as it were."

A sample of George Becker's Pacific beer can be had at the Granite saloon for a bit, with a nice lunch thrown in.

A young lawyer of Oil City, who has a girl in Warren, and one in Corry and another in Meadville may be said to be already conducting a Circuit Court.

The most absent-minded of men is the professor who, when he hears himself knocking the ashes out of his pipe, will call out, "Come in."

Here is an Arkansas editor's valdettory: "We don't know anything about the newspaper business, never did, never will and never want to, and are glad to get out of it—with a whole skin."

Chase & Thyes continue to hold the very best class of custom ever enjoyed by a saloon in this community; they keep nothing but the best, and allow no rounders about their place.

"Yes," said the candidate for office, "I suppose I can't sue that paper for saying that I spent part of my life in jail. You see, I was a warden for six years. I can lick the editor, though."

For the best glass of beer you ever put under your vest, call at Jake Becker's for a schooner; a square meal besides.

Made to stick—the postage stamp. A burning shame—cigarette smoking. Stage-struck—the man hit by an omnibus. The baker always knada bread. Stabbed to the heart—oysters on the half shell. "Going through" the country—the Mississippi river.

Even Among Actresses.

Madame Modjeska is a sensible woman, if as she is reported to have done, she said what follows to a Cincinnati Commercial attaché: "I mean to retire from the stage after two years more, while I am in possession of my powers. To me there is something inexpressibly sad in the last years of actors and actresses who linger on the stage. Last year I met Janushek—a sick, pale, feeble. She had lost nearly all of her large fortune trying to sustain her great reputation before the public that cared no longer for her when her powers began to wane."

BLACK BART.

The Gentleman Jack of the Pacific Coast at Last in the Mill.

Bolton, the man arrested in San Francisco the other day, supposed to be "Black Bart," the highwayman, has been one of the most successful stage robbers ever on this coast. For years he has paid his compliments to Wells, Fargo & Co. whenever he needed a few dollars and in every instance he was successful. Bart's invitation to "pass down the box" was always promptly accepted, when he would break it open, take what money and other valuables it contained and strike out, but not before leaving something to show that Black Bart was the workman. He would generally write something on a way bill, for instance at one time after robbing a stage near Shasta, he wrote on a slip of paper, "Yours respectfully, B. B.," at another time he wrote the following on the margin of a way bill and left it in the rifled box:

here I lay me down to sleep to wait the coming morrow perhaps success perhaps defeat And everlasting sorrow I've labored long and hard for bread for honor and for riches— But on my corse too long you've tread You fine haired s-s of b-s— let come what will I'll try it on My condition can't be worse and if there's money in that box T's munny in my purse

Black Bart the Po's.

Whenever Bart commanded a halt he was obeyed, but he was always very polite, especially to ladies. He would never molest any of the passengers, but confined his operations to Wells-Fargo's treasure. He was always dressed the same, wearing a white slouch hat, linen duster and disguised himself by drawing a flour sack over his head. Detective Hume has been chasing him up for several years past, and has probably lost more sleep thinking about Black Bart, than any other criminal. Old Bart will most likely go to Quentin for a long period.
